SECRETARY MURRAY must have found a hole small enough to fit him, and crawled into it.

Let the good work go on. Oh, that Senator Coke had wings and a thousand tongues, so that he might speak in every Texas town before the election.

It is the earnest wish of all true
Americans that President Harrison may be spared the great bereavement which at present seems almost inevitable.

THE WILY CATARINO.

The Galveston News prints an interesting account of the capture of Catarino Garza's brother, in which the history of the entire Garza movement, and some interesting facts concerning the Garza brothers are given by Capt. Joe Shely, who was interviewed by a News reporter on his return from Florida with the prisoner. He tells how the two brothers, Catarino and Encarnacion made their escape from Texas, driving from Corpus Christi to Cuero, and thence to Houston, whence in disguise, they went by rail to New Orleans on the same train which bore one of Brownsville's most prominent lawyers, Hon. Jas. B. Wells, who is well known to them both. Speaking of the Garza trouble Capt. Shely gives the whole thing in a nutshell, as it were. He says:

"Now, the whole Garza matter amounts to this: Catarino hoped to overthrow Diaz and his government. He is an inflammatory speaker and soon he had all the Mexicans on the border thoroughly stirred up. A great many whites were in sympathy with the Garzas, and gave aid to them on the quiet. Catarino's men would go up or down the Rio Grande, and cross and recross the river. There was really no concerted attempt to stop him. Seven separate forces were working against each other. There were the Mexican troops on the one side of the river and the United States troops, the United States marshals, customs inspectors, rangers, sheriffs and citizens, all working at cross purposes. When Garza's men would go into Mexico, there would be up troops at the ford to capture them. When they came back into Texas it would be the same on this side of the river. If there had been a proper cooperation this fracas would not have lasted any time."

In regard to Catarino's education, Capt. Shely says:

"There has been a great deal of talk about Catarino's education. Some have said that he is a college man, others that he is a West-Pointer, and others that he is an ignoramus. Now the whole truth of the matter is this: There are three Garza brothers, all born at Matamoros. Catarino is the oldest and Encarnacion the youngest. Catarino is about 35 years old. All the education that Catarino has he got in the common schools at Brownsville. Catarino is sharp and knows how to work on the minds of the people who have been his followers. He can size up a crowd of men quickly, and in speaking he sets them afire."

Capt. Shely says he knew all about Garza's movements, and could have captured him several months ago, had he been commissioned. He says that Catarino is not now on American soil, that he knows where he is and when he left the United States, and that Catarino makes it a rule not to stay in one locality more than twenty days at a time. Encarnacion Garza was captured in Key West, where he was employed as a bar tender. With the affair in the hands of the gallant Capt. Joe Shely, it will probably not be long ere the wily Catarino himself is brought to justice.

In view of the fact that the state presidential electors were chosen by the Lampasas state convention, which convention endorsed the national democratic platform in full, we fail to see what authority the Hogg executive com. can claim to remove those electors who favor the election of Judge Clark. As the platform on which Clark stands also endorses the national platform in full while Hogg's platform, not only repudiates the silver plank of said national platform, but embraces at least three planks taken almost verbatim from the third party, it would seem that if any electors are removed they should be the Hogg men. Of all the cheek we ever saw or heard of, this proposed action of Hogg's executive committee "takes the cake."

THE people of Kentucky have about decided that they will send no exhibit to the world's fair, owing to "the indignities which have been offered Congressman Breckinridge by the Chicago press and public." As the fair is not a local Chicago affair, but one in which the entire Union is supposed to be interested, the Kentucky press takes an erroneous view of the matter. For Kentucky to miss so great an opportunity to advertise her resources and display her progress merely through a feeling of anger towards Chicago, would be like "cutting off her own nose to spite her face."

Houston Post: The convention of county judges and county commissioners to consider the question of public roads improvement will be held in the city next Friday. Interest in the meeting is being aroused throughout the State and there is promise of a good attendance. The press of the State should give as much publicity as possible to the convention and urge the attendance of county judges and commissioners from all points. The question of good roads is one that should interest all the people of the whole State.

Senator Coke, the great leader who refers to Judge McCormick as a little 2x4 judge, voted for the confirmation of Judge McCormick in the high office which he now holds. This great democratic high priest also voted for Coney whom he does not hesitate to hold up by the neck before the people. What do honest, consistent voters of Texas think of this blunderbuss missionary who has voted to put in responsible offices the men whom he asks others to condemn?

In the northern states wherever Senator Mills speaks, he receives a great ovation, with grand procession and pyrotechnic displays in his honor. In Texas, no such displays occurred, there being a decided lack of enthusiasm among the people whom the distinguished senator honored with his presence. The biblical saying regarding the prophet not without honor save in his own land, seems verified in this instance.

It was stated that Ben Terrell intended to visit Brownsville, but he has failed to report as yet. Fears are entertained lest the redoubtable Ben may have been captured by the Rio Grande "revolutionists," who will hold him a prisoner, hoping that Brewster's friends may offer a reward for his release. It is understood the republicans rely on Terrell to greatly reduce Crain's majority.

PATTY is again working the "fare well" racket. These farewell tours of the great artist grow somewhat monotonous.
